

Theoretical interpretation of proton radioactivity: recent results

Lídia S. Ferreira

Centro de Física e Engenharia de Materiais CeFEMA, Instituto Superior Técnico,
Universidade de Lisboa, Av Rovisco Pais, 1049 001, Lisboa, Portugal

It is the purpose of this talk, to discuss recent developments on the theoretical interpretation of proton emission from drip line nuclei, within the non-adiabatic quasi-particle model. Details of the nuclear structure of these highly unstable nuclei will be unveiled from the interpretation of the decay data, that hardly could be obtained otherwise.